

What are Work Styles?

This diagram illustrates a few of the many factors that influence our individual work styles.

Our styles 'frame' the way we see the world and the way we engage with the people around us.

Learning to interact effectively with people with different styles is key to getting things done.

